Mount Angel Seminary and College.

Historical.

Mount Angel College, conducted by the Benedictine Fathers, was founded in the year 1887, by the Very Rev. Adelhelm Odermatt, O. S. B., with the approbation of His Grace, Most Rev. Archbishop Wm. H. Gross, D. D. By act of Legislature the institution was granted a charter, with the power of conferring the usual academic honors. Rev. Father Barnabas Held, O. S. B., was appointed Director of the school, and the rapid increase of students soon necessitated the erection of the present College building.

The Seminary was erected in the following year, and placed in charge of Rev. Father Dominic Wadenswyler, O. S. B.

On May 3rd, 1892, the Monastery, the old College and Seminary buildings were destroyed by fire. Although a heavy loss, this misfortune by no means arrested the progress of the school, and no expense was spared for the comfort of the students in the new College building.

The College is situated at the foot of Mount Angel, a beautiful, gently sloping hill, which rises to a height of about 300 feet above the surrounding fertile plain, which is diversified by fields, meadows, groves and orchards. Mt. Angel is 40 miles south of Portland, and 14 miles north-east of Salem, affording a magnificent view of the Willamette valley, the snow-capped mountains of Oregon and Washington on the north, the long chain of the Cascade Range on the east, the Coast Range on the west, and the Waldo Hills with St. Mary's Peak in the south.

Accessibility.

The Springfield branch of the Southern Pacific Railroad passes through the town of Mt. Angel, the station being a little over half a mile from the College. Those coming from Portland can get their tickets direct to Mt. Angel (cost about $1.75), but will have to change cars at Woodburn, about 8 miles distant. Those coming from the south may change cars at Albany, or go to Woodburn, as they may choose. There is a large and neat hotel at Mt. Angel for the accommodation of visitors and strangers.

Accommodations and Buildings.

They are in every respect all that can be desired. The College is 160x50 feet, three stories high, with a garret and basement, and has been put up with due regard to the health, comfort, and safety of the students. Besides all necessary apartments, there is a museum, library, physical cabinet, chemical laboratory, gymnasium, large exhibition and play-hall with a beautiful stage etc., all the rooms being high, well ventilated, and properly heated in winter. The house is well supplied with the very best spring water, which circulates through a system of pipes through the whole building. The underground drainage system is very complete, thus removing all danger from infected water, defective drainage etc. The plugs and hose are attached at convenient places throughout the house, which, together with the fact that the staircases are at both ends of the building, warrants the safety of the students in case of fire.

Aids to Physical training.

The play grounds are extensive and partly shaded, presenting a very attractive appearance, which renders them a really delightful place to spend the hours of recreation. They contain baseball grounds, lawn tennis and croquet courts, hand-ball alleys, swings of all kinds, in fact, all that could be desired to furnish amusements as well as healthful exercise, so necessary for the proper development of mind and body.

The dormitory, toilet-rooms, infirmaries, etc., are in charge of the Benedictine Sisters, and kept in excellent condition. The dormitory is furnished with neat and comfortable single beds, and the ventilation is simply perfect. Attached to the dormitory are the toilet and clothes-rooms, where to each student a wardrobe and cases are assigned for his toilet articles, clothes, shoes etc. The Sisters attend to the smaller boys, and see that they dress neatly and wash properly.

The dining-hall is large, cheerful, and decorated with suitable paintings. The meals are substantial and plentiful, most of the supplies for the table being furnished fresh from the large farm, attached to the Benedictine Monastery. Sisters also have charge of the kitchen. The excellent and abundant fare, the scrupulous cleanliness of the dormitory and all other apartments, the sanitary conditions throughout, as well as the beautiful and romantic location of the College, the pure air and magnificent scenery, have called forth words of admiration from every visitor to the institution. In fact, nothing has been left undone to secure the comfort and well-being of the students.

Mental Training.

The institution has two libraries, one of which is next to the study-hall and for the special use of the students. The works of this library cover nearly every department of science and literature. Besides the standard works of ancient and modern literature, there may be found the Britannica, American and Chamber's Encyclopædias.

The current news and literature of the day are supplied by papers and magazines. The teachers' library proper is more especially for the professors, and at present contains more than six thousand volumes, a great many of them of rare value. This library is kept in a separate building.

The College also possesses a museum of specimens in Natural History, and well preserved and classified herbaries of indigenous and exotic plants. Through the generosity of a friend, the College very recently came in possession of one of the largest and most valuable herbaries of Oregon.

To the Physical Cabinet within the last few years have been added a large number of very valuable instruments, such as dynamoses, motors, coils, X-ray apparatus, models of engines, microscopes, phonograph, airpumps etc., all of which serve to practically illustrate the principles of Physics and Mechanics.

The Exhibition Hall.

This hall is used as a play-hall in winter, also for the meetings of the different societies and clubs, and for all entertainments. It is large enough to accommodate 900 people, having a gallery at one end and a splendid stage at the other, with ten sets of beautiful scenery, painted by a renowned artist from Munich, Kaulbach. The drop curtain represents Engelberg, in Switzerland, a great Alpine summer and health resort.

Music.

The facilities and opportunities, which Mt. Angel College offers to its pupils for the cultivation of Music, are not equalled by any institution in the West. The College is fully equipped with a number of Pianos, Organs, and in fact all modern instruments, and the musical library contains the works of most of the great masters of the classic and modern era. Nothing is left undone to inspire the students with a taste for this beautiful art, and the excellent and well trained Band, Orchestra, Glee club, Singing choir etc., are the best evidences of the efficiency and qualifications of the professors of music.

Printing Office.

Near the College is a large Printing Office which is furnished with all the necessary appendages of a complete establishment for job and book work. A handsome Cottrell Air Spring Cylinder Press of the largest size, with tapeless delivery and cylinder distribution, prints the three papers and magazines published by the Benedictine Fathers, viz: "The St. Joseph's Blatt," an eight-page weekly, German newspaper, with a circulation of 4,500 subscribers; "The Armen Seelen Freund," and "The Mt. Angel Banner," monthly magazines. While the "A. S. F." has a circulation of over 5,000 copies monthly, the "Banner" is circulated all over Oregon, Washington and Br. Columbia. The general job work is done by a nice Gordon Press (10x15). A large Folding and also a Stitching machine are in use. The machines are worked by a four horse-power motor.—If desired, Printing will be practically and successfully taught.

A few years ago, a Meteorological Observatory, connected with the U. S. Signal Service, was established at Mt. Angel College, and weekly, monthly, and annual records are sent regularly to the U. S. Agricultural Department in Washington, D. C., through the Central Office of the Oregon State Weather Bureau. From this office the weather forecasts are daily received by dispatch in the telegraph office of the the College.

Aids to Moral Training.

The students are at all times and places, in the company and care of their tutors and prefects.

The offices of the directors are open daily, where the students may call upon them and receive such private instructions and advice as they desire, and as may be conducive to their individual improvement.

The religion of the Institution is Roman Catholic, although we admit students professing a different belief, provided they are willing, for the sake of order and uniformity, to be present at the common religious exercises of the students and behave as gentlemen. We do not need to mention that such students are in no wise influenced in regard to religious tenets.

The College Chapel is well lighted by two rows of large windows, and is tastefully decorated. Here the students have morning and evening prayers, as well as Mass on week-days. On Sunday forenoon all the students attend High Mass and sermon, and Benediction in the evening.

The Catholic boys are obliged to go to Confession at least once a month, and those who have attained the proper age, receive also the Sacrament of Holy Eucharist once within the same period. The day of General Communion is the first Friday of each month, to instill into their lives devotion to the Sacred Heart. The junior boys are carefully instructed and prepared for First Holy Communion and the Sacrament of Confirmation.

REMARKS.

Money should be paid in advance, i. e., one half at the time of entrance and the other in February.

We will also accept monthly, bi-monthly, or quarterly payments, if your circumstances are such as to make it impossible to pay in advance. But in every case, bills must be settled before or on the last day of school.

No reduction is made for brief absences from College.

We make special terms to parties sending two or more brothers. Arrangements should be made beforehand however.

Remittances should be made by Bank-draft, Check, Postal or Express money-order, or Registered Letter, payable to Director, Mt. Angel College. Checks on local banks are also accepted.

Parents, who desire articles procured for their sons at the College, must deposit with the Director an amount sufficient to cover the expenses. No money is advanced to students for clothing, stationery, fare, or other incidental expenses. A sufficient amount, for such purposes should be deposited at the beginning, say from $5.00 to $10.00.

Books are rented to students at 10 cents a piece per annum, but if returned in bad condition, the full price will be charged.

Stationery, toilet articles, etc., may be procured at the institution at very low rates. The average cost of books and stationery is about $6.00 per annum.

Although we are not in favor of boys spending their vacation at the College, yet there may be cases and circumstances, when parents or guardians find it more advantageous for the boy to remain at the College. In this case their boy will be under the care of a prefect, and a charge of $30 00 is made.

In consequence of contributions and benefactions received by the Seminary, a limited number of students, aspiring to the priesthood, can be received at special rates. For fuller information apply to the Rev. Director.

General Remarks and Regulations.

ADMISSION.—We do not charge any entrance or matriculation fees. Only students of a good moral character will be admitted, and it is therefore desirable, that a recommendation from some responsible person be submitted by those desiring admission into the College. No boys under nine years of age are accepted. When a student is admitted into the institution, he will, on examination, be assigned to the classes, which his previous attainments have qualified him to enter.

Parents or guardians, who desire to intrust their sons or wards to our institution, should send them at the beginning of the session; for a long and general experience has taught us that those scholars only, who come at the beginning and stay to the end of the term, without interruption, show a uniform and satisfactory progress during the course. Those who join the class, when it is on the way, but too often interfere, for a while, with the smooth and steady advancement of the whole, and are, for the time being, a drawback to their classmates, and an extra burden to professors. We cannot urge this point too persistently; and we would therefore impress on all our students to be on hand when the classwork begins. Their own interests and the progress of the class require it, and late comers ought not to expect that, for their accommodation, their class-fellows should be checked in their onward course.

EXAMINATIONS.—Oral examinations are held at the end of January, and before the close of school in June. Written Examinations take place each month, and are conducted by the respective teachers. Reports, giving accounts of the conduct, application, standing and progress in the different studies, etc., are sent to parents and guardians immediately after the oral examinations.

For similar information at any other time during the term kindly apply to Rev. Director. A Roll of Honor and distinction is published bi-monthly in the "Mount Angel Banner."

VACATION.—Christmas vacation commences on December 23rd and ends on January 3rd. Easter vacation begins on the Wednesday before Easter Sunday, and closes on the Monday following. Students who obtain permission from their parents or guardians, are allowed to visit home during these holidays, but they must return in time to resume classes.

In the competition for Medals awarded at the Closing Exercises preference is given to students, who have attended the full course, over those who did not come in time.

VISITS.—Those students, whose parents live in the vicinity of the College, may be allowed to visit them occasionally.

No visitors are permitted to see a student, unless they have permission from the College authorities. Parents and friends are most earnestly requested to arrange the time of their visits, so as to not interfere with the classes.

STUDIES.—After the student has decided upon the course of studies, he will be required to attend all the classes belonging to that course, unless different arrangements have been made beforehand. Parents are respectfully reminded, that the management of the classes belongs to the authorities of the institution, as they generally know best what is to the advantage of the student. We also request, that the student should not be withdrawn from school before vacation.

What the Student should bring along.

It is rather difficult to make any specification as to the quantity or quality of wearing apparel, and parents will generally conform the outfit to the wants and needs of their children, as well as to their own means and condition.

We will, however, subjoin a list of articles, which the average student will need, and should bring along: Two or three suits of clothes, hat or cap, four or six shirts, collars, cuffs, neckties, towels, napkins, handkerchiefs, stockings, four or six suits of underwear, comb and brush, two pairs of shoes, night-gown. Articles which may be useful and at times desirable, are: Overcoat, umbrella, swimming drawers, sweater, slippers, scarf, etc.

Each student, on entering, is assigned a number, which is marked on all his clothing etc. by the Sisters, who are in charge of the clothing rooms.

Bedding is furnished by the institution.

If parents or guardians send any packages to students, they are requested to prepay expressage or freight.

Rules of Conduct.

1. Students should at all times be obedient and respectful to the Officers and Professors of the institution, observe habitual politeness towards each other, and always preserve the rules of propriety.

Believing that a business education comprises something more than a mere knowledge of Book-keeping, we include in the course, besides Book-keeping and Commercial Arithmetic, the following studies: Christian Doctrine, English Grammar, Rhetoric and Literature, Letter-writing, Penmanship, General History, Business Correspondence, Commercial Law and Political Economy. They have also an opportunity of attending the Scientific Course.

The Scientific Course is calculated to acquaint the student with the best methods and facts of modern science, so as to enable him to pursue further studies of a technical or professional class. This course is a complement of a liberal or commercial education, and therefore the Physical and Natural Sciences constitute the principal studies.

Those wishing to enter this course must be prepared to stand an examination in the studies of the Third Year of the Preparatory Course, and the Rudiments of Algebra and Geometry. The studies of the Scientific Course comprise higher Mathematics, English Literature and Rhetoric, General History, Physics and Chemistry. Optional Studies are the following: Anatomy and Physiology, Zoology, Biology, Botany, Geology, Mineralogy, Astronomy, Logic, Mental Philosophy, Modern Languages, Civil and Practical Engineering, Mechanical Drawing and Sketching. The time required to finish the Scientific Course, naturally depends on the nature and number of the elective studies, as well as the advancement and application of the student.

Students who, after completing the Course, pass a final examination and present a satisfactory thesis, will be awarded the degree of Bachelor of Science.

Course in Elocution.

This course has of late received special attention, and teachers of marked ability are in charge of the classes. Each pupil is required to declaim and render easy pieces, as well as Oratorical and Dramatic selections, according to his ability. The class exercises in common consist of Breathing exercises; Articulation; Pronunciation of Vowels and Consonants; Inflection of Words and Sentences; Pauses and Cadences, Concert-drill; Simple and Complex Gestures and Movements, Power, Stress, Melody, Pitch, Tone, etc. The course is optional, but recommended to all the students, owing to its usefulness and growing importance.

The Dramatic and Debating Societies, and the various entertainments and plays during the session greatly assist in making the class of Elocution attractive.

Course in Surveying.

Instruction in Surveying is given, four lessons a week, with practical field work, three hours a week. Valuable instruments are in possession of the College—as, e. gr., a complete transit theodolite, with all the extra attachments, chains, and pins, an architect's level, measuring rods, and compasses, surveyor's cross, etc.

The Course is finished in two years, the portion assigned to the first year being: Logarithms, Trigonometry, Chain Surveying, Compass Surveying and Leveling, with Mapping and Potting.

Second Year: Geodetic Surveying, Topographical Surveying, Railroad Surveying, and Mining Surveying.

Branches collateral to Surveying, will be taught, if required, as Lineal Drawing, French Round writing and Lettering, Descriptive Geometry, Shades and Shadows, Linear and Aerial Perspective.

Course of Practical Engineering.

Four lessons a week.

Shorthand and Typewriting.

The popularity of these branches, as almost necessary requirements for book-keepers, reporters, lawyers, and clerks in a business community, has induced us to offer special facilities to such students as desire to perfect themselves in either branch. In shorthand writing, the natural system of Phonography is followed, and, in the beginning, instruction is given individually to the students by an expert.

Telegraphy.

Though not strictly a part of a business education, yet a practical knowledge of telegraphy secures an honorable position for many a young man. A sound theoretical and practical knowledge is imparted by an experienced operator. Instruments in direct communication with the railroad station are set up in the College, dispatches for which can be sent and received directly on the spot.

Drawing and Painting

Instruction is imparted in Free-hand and in Architectural and Perspective Drawing from standard models. Facilities are also offered for Crayon, Pastel, Aquarel, and Oil Painting.

Music.

First-class facilities are offered in this department. Professors of marked ability teach the various branches: Piano, Organ, Violin, Flute, Clarinet, Guitar, Zither, Cornet, etc. In singing and in the theory of music all the students are instructed free of charge.

The progress of some of the students in this art during the past years is the best proof of the good training they get in the Musical Department of Mount Angel College. The large Orchestra and the College Band afford opportunity to cultivate the taste for music. Advanced scholars will find the greatest and cheapest facilities for perfecting themselves by taking active part in the Orchestra or in the Band.

Typesetting, Printing, Etc.

if desired, will be practically and successfully taught in the Office near the College.

Mt. Angel Academy.

An institution for young ladies under the direction of the BENELECTINE SISTERS, situated one quarter of a mile from Mt. Angel Depot, in a healthy and picturesque part of Oregon. The quiet seclusion of the locality is an incentive to reflection and study.

The Academy building of brick, with stone trimmings, is spacious, comfortable and adapted, in every respect, to its object. Extensive playgrounds, groves, and orchards afford ample advantages for healthful exercise. Pupils admitted from five years upward.

COURSES OF STUDY.

Primary course for beginners. Preparatory course for those not yet capable of entering a regular course. Scientific, Normal, and Commercial Courses for more advanced pupils. Preparation for Civil Service Examinations for Teacher, Bookkeeper, Stenographer, Typewriter, and Post-Office Service, a specialty.

German or French can be taken up in connection with any of the above courses without extra charge.

Plain and fancy Needlework taught in all the grades.

MUSIC.

Thorough courses in vocal and instrumental music, harmony and thorough-bass.

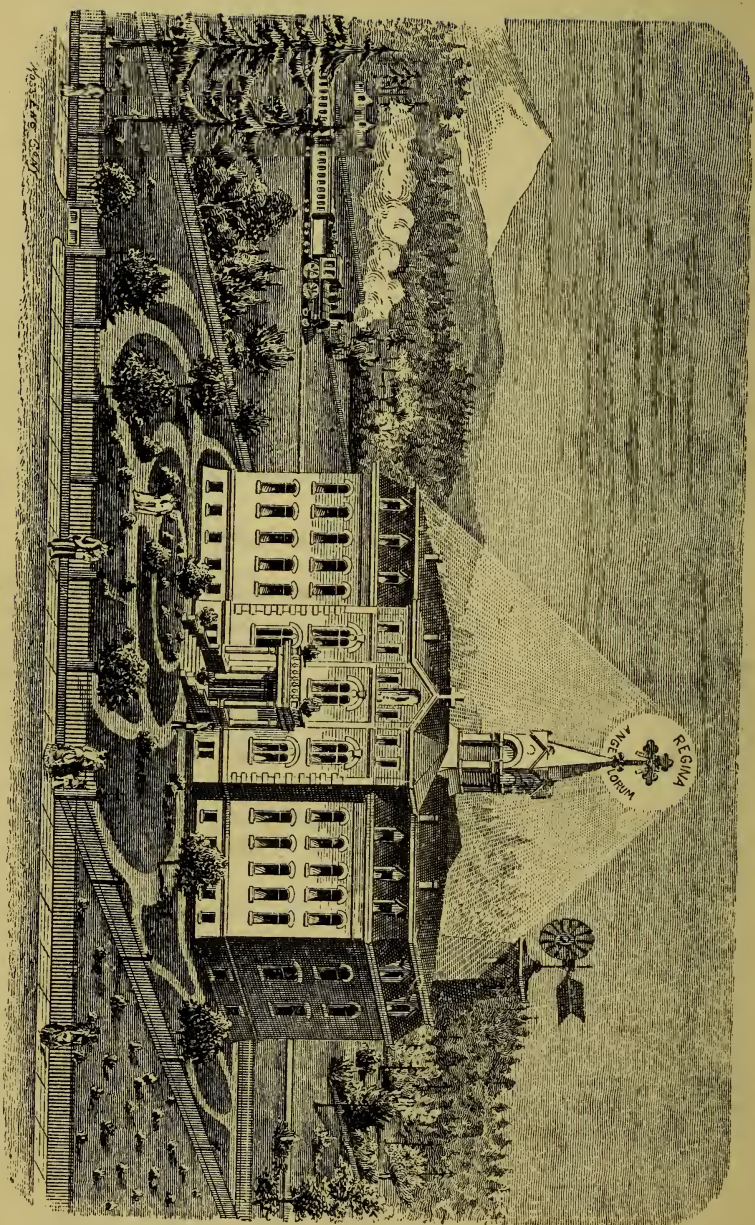

Studies resumed Sept. 6, 1899.
